FBLA News

By Cindy Covington

During the month of October, FBLA had two money-making projects.

First, our chapter sold doughnuts three mornings a week. The doughnuts sold well. Second, during our October meeting, Toby Pennington told the members how to be good sales people. He also showed the members the prizes they could win for selling specific amounts. Our chapter worked hard to sell the products and sold over $7,000 worth of merchandise. The money we made in our two projects will be used for promotional materials, attendance at conferences and workshops, including local, regional, state and national; welfare projects; materials for competitive events; and special chapter activities such as our annual spring banquet.

We would like to thank all the people in our community who helped us make these projects such a success.

BOOK FAIR at the Appomattox Primary School was celebrated in Kindergarten with some of the students dressed as familiar book characters. These students shared their costumes with the entire school in a parade to assist in the celebration of Book Fair and American Education Week. In the picture above, front row includes: Amy Barr, Susan Hamilton, Gina Hamlett. Back row: Crystal Williams, Brandon Scruggs, Jamie Dawson, Stephanie Bryant, Dawn Phelps.
